"Hall of Fame"

by John de Cuevas

Instructions: The cryptic clues define fourteen radial words, sections A to G, and twenty row words, 1 to 7, to be entered in the grid in the order of their clues. All spaces, including partial spaces, should be filled with letters. Radial words start at the right and proceed leftward, some reading in, others out, solvers must determine which. Row words read from left to right, three to a row except for row 7 which has only two, and eighteen of them won't fit unless one of their letters is removed. If those eighteen letters are entered alphabetically in the central section of the grid, it will be seen that eight letters of the alphabet are missing, and those eight missing letters—taken alphabetically 2,1,3 1,1,2 2, and 2 times respectively—anagram to a two-word phrase appropriate to the grid. Answers include one proper name.
